

All Edwin would needs from you is some information on your guest of honor. Here's a list of things that can help make the whole event better:

- where the "victim" was born
- where the "victim" grew up
- age
- pet peeves
- odd habits
- where the "victim" works / occupation
- favourite things to do
- name of fiance/spouse/significant other
- where the "victim" went to school
- brothers or sisters ?
- most embarrassing moments
- anything else you can think of that could be used...

As a for instance Edwin did a delivery (with roses instead of balloons) to a lady who was turning 75. Her group was meeting in a Wendy's - Edwin came in, ordered a cola (very loudly I might add) and proceeded to invite himself to sit at the groups table. He then met everyone and moved into his show - all the while with his shirt half unbuttoned since the lady had a huge problem with guys having their chest showing. He didn't get much more info for her but that alone went a long way.

I hope all this helps you out. Feel free to contact Edwin anytime if you have any questions and/or to confirm a booking. You can reach him via email or the numbers listed below.

Thanks again and keep smiling!

"Edwin"
